

What are some manufacturers of optical cable terminal boxes

AI Overview

Some leading manufacturers of optical cable terminal boxes include LAPP Group, CAHORS, GAO Tek, Gcabling, and EFB-Elektronik.

Key Manufacturers and Their Offerings

LAPP Group produces splice boxes and compact terminal boxes suitable for indoor and outdoor fiber optic networks, supporting multiple splicing cartridges and distribution plates for efficient fiber management . CAHORS specializes in FTTH distribution solutions, providing optical terminal sockets and complete terminal boxes for residential and commercial fiber networks . GAO Tek offers a wide range of fiber distribution terminals, including indoor and outdoor variants, FTTH boxes, fiber splitters, and termination kits. Their products feature IP65 protection, theft-proof locks, and durable materials suitable for industrial and telecom environments . Gcabling provides high-strength, corrosion-resistant fiber terminal boxes and distribution boxes with IP68, IP67, and IP65 ratings. They support OEM/ODM services and offer fast shipping and technical support for network deployment . EFB-Elektronik manufactures splice boxes and optical network terminal boxes with removable and stackable splice cassettes, supporting all common connector types (LC, SC, E2000®, ST). Their products are suitable for 19" network or server cabinets and can be customized for specific installation needs .
